Dear Family,

We have been so blessed, to have celebrated again the birth of Our Savior. As we continue to read in the Scriptures there were many who came to see this infant, as we would have done ourselves if we would have been present at that time. Of those who did come to pay respect to this family, some were of distinction.

This weekend we read and hear of one of these groups, the Magi. Now they struggled in their attempt to come see this event, as we do in our own lives. Like the Magi, we often misinterpret the signs that mark important events in our lives. When that happens, too often, like them, we find ourselves in places of danger. May it be that when such a situation arises, we may seek and listen for God's directives and follow them to the place of safety that God has already prepared for us. We are given great instructions from the scriptures on how to avoid the temptations that will put us into an unsafe condition with our souls.

So, as we begin this year, let us make a resolution to be more fervent in our ability to listen to Our Lord, as He gives us the directions we need to follow, to lessen the dangers that are put in front of us and spend more time in prayer with Our Savior.

Deacon Joe
