Dear Family,

If you have not noticed, there are themes that run through our readings during every Lenten season. This year, they are: Be merciful, do not judge, stop condemning, Forgive, and Love one another as you love yourself.

These are qualities that a Christian should always have. But during Lent it is always good to remind ourselves of these traits. Being human, we become complacent with our behavior. Since our society today bombards with thoughts and actions not as Christian as we were taught to be, we need these reminders in our readings to bring us back to a way of living.

Jesus showed all of us through his prayers and actions how to live to be in right relationship with His Father and one day be with Him in eternity.

As we sit in prayer this week, let us reflect on the distractions that do pull us away from God, let us lift up these distractions to God, and ask for His strength to combat these events and to lead us closer to His side.

Deacon Joe
